b. Continuous Assessment (CA)

Continuous assessment is a practice to evaluate the learning experiences of students. In continuous assessment the students' performance are evaluated continuously to monitor the progress of students. Institute has developed a mechanism for continuous assessment. The CEC prepares the academic calendar for CIE considering university calendar and is communicated to students by different ways. HEI follows CBCS for various programmes in which the student performances are evaluated through CIE in terms of various evaluation parameters such as class test, home assignments, tutorials, doubt solving sessions, open book tests, seminars, group discussions, projects, field work, surveys, excursions, viva-voce. The question papers and question banks are prepared by faculties considering the various aspects of Bloom's taxonomy. The formative assessment of students is used to evaluate the progress of learners. The summative assessment is also carried out through mid-term examinations, projects and end semester internal examinations. At the end of semester, the marks of internal evaluation are finalized and submitted to university. The learning experiences of students for CIE are evaluated in terms of course outcomes. The details of CIE are maintained in the academic departments.
